Does the Heartland Coin Club buy and sells coins?

No, we do not, but you can talk with our members about it. (We cannot endorse or recommend anyone in particular, but you are welcome to ask at the meetings.)

How Many other Coin Clubs are in the County of San Diego?

There are eight Coin Clubs in San Diego. Visit our website for detailed information about their meetings.

What Makes A Coin Valuable?

The value of each coin is determined by how many are readily available (how common or rare it is), physical condition, and the demand for it.

Why Is Coin Collecting So Popular?

Coin collecting has become even more popular more recently because that there are many more coins existing today that are connected to historical moments. Some collectors are often history teachers or history enthusiasts, seeking tangible items from a time long ago. The thrill of finding such items provides immense joy and fulfillment in one's self, and be able to build an impressive coin collection.

What Are The Best Resources For Coin Collectors?

The best resource for coin collectors is the so-called "Red Book." This book is considered to be "The Bible" for US Coin collectors. Before you purchase, you can consult it by visiting your local library. However, talking with other coin collectors is by attending coin clubs. There you can meet members that have been collecting for many years as well as others that have recently started collecting. We also have interesting numismatic links on our website:
