Instructions

Use this Quick Reference Sheet as a quick reminder on what to look for when be hunting for any of the Washington quarters RDVs.

The photos included here are just one of the many pick up points used to confirm the identity a variety.

The first line below each photo indicates the variety according to CONECA's (Combined Organization of Numismatic Error Collectors of America) nomenclature (e.g. RDV-001), followed by common naming (e.g. Type A) and the die identification (e.g. I) then the years those Washington Quarters were produced (e.g. 1956-1964).

On the next line shown in red are the years and mints that you should be looking for, followed by a few pickup points.

On the back of the brochure is a table showing the Washington Quarters RDV available and the common strikes as a reference.

Use the documentation provided in the presentation, "Washington Quarters Reverse Design Varieties (RDV) From A to H, and Beyond" for a more detailed description of the different Washington quarters RDV's and to verify your finds.

Corrections, suggestions or updates are always welcomed.
